Case No. ED CV 16-00903-AB (SPx)

ORDER RE PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION
(DKT. NO. 36)

1 Before the Court is Plaintiffs Victor Valley Family Resource Center
 2 (“VVFRC”), Sharon Green, Daniel Avila, Harold Batts, Chris Dowdy, David Deen, 3 Nicholas Holt-Francis, and Renee Gullett’s (collectively “Plaintiffs”) Motion for a 4 Preliminary Injunction (“Motion”) seeking to enjoin Defendants City of Hesperia 5 (“City”), John McMahon, and Ernesto Montes, and their officials, agents, and 6 employees, from enforcing Hesperia Ordinance 2007-07 and Hesperia Ordinance 7 2015-12 against Plaintiffs, or the properties where they reside or carry out their 8 mission, on the grounds that Plaintiffs face the threat of immediate eviction due to 9 the City’s enforcement efforts. Dkt. No. 36. Defendants City of Hesperia and 10 Ernesto Montes (collectively “Defendants”) timely filed their Opposition to the 11 Motion on June 21, 2016. Dkt. No. 46.¹ No Opposition was filed by Defendant 12 John McMahon. Plaintiffs timely filed their Reply in support of the Motion on June 13 23, 2016. Dkt. No. 47.

14 Plaintiffs previously filed an ex parte application for a temporary restraining 15 order (“TRO”) against defendants requesting the same relief. Dkt. No. 11. On May 16 20, 2016, the Court denied Plaintiffs’ ex parte application, ruling that Plaintiffs 17 failed to demonstrate that they will suffer immediate and irreparable harm such that 18 a TRO was warranted. Dkt. No. 25. Since that time, the landlords of the properties 19 where Plaintiffs reside have filed unlawful detainer actions, thereby taking further 20 steps towards evicting Plaintiffs.

21 For the following reasons, the Court GRANTS Plaintiffs’ Motion for a 22 Preliminary injunction.

27 ¹ On June 17, 2016, the Court granted Plaintiffs’ ex parte application for an order 28 shortening time and ordered the briefing schedule on Plaintiffs’ Motion as follows: Defendants’ Opposition is due June 21, 2016 and Plaintiffs’ Reply is due June 23, 2016. Dkt. No. 45.

1 I. FACTUAL BACKGROUND²

2 A. The Ordinances

3 This case arises from the City's enactment of two ordinances – Ordinance No.
4 2007-07 (“Group Home Ordinance”), enacted in 2007 and codified in Hesperia
5 Municipal Code Section 16.16.072, and Ordinance 2015-12 (“Rental Housing 6 Ordinance”) (collectively the “Ordinances”), enacted in 2015 and codified in 7 Hesperia Municipal Code Chapter 8.2.

8 The Group Home Ordinance provides that in a district zoned R-1, unlicensed 9 group homes (defined as “any residential structure or unit, whether operated by an 10 individual for profit or non-profit entity, which is not licensed by the State of 11 California and which houses individuals not related by blood or marriage”) are 12 permitted to operate “subject to approval of a Conditional use permit.” Section 4, 13 Subsection C of the Ordinance explicitly prohibits “Group Homes of two (2) or 14 more unrelated sex offenders and/or two (2) or more individuals on probation. . . .” 15 And Section 4, Subsection D further provides that a Conditional use permit is 16 required for the new establishment of any Group Homes “that are not prohibited 17 under subsection C. above”

18 The Rental Housing Ordinance requires that all landlords renting or leasing a 19 residential rental property in the City must register with the City and thereby 20 participate in the Ordinance's “Crime Free Rental Housing Program.” As part of the 21 program, Section 8.20.050(B) requires each landlord to provide the Chief of Police 22 with identifying information for all potential renters of their property, whom the 23 Chief of Police will then screen to “determine if the potential adult Tenants have 24 been in violation of a Crime Free agreement or rules at previous locations.” The 25 Chief of Police is then directed to provide this information to the landlord “to take 26

27 ² The factual background of this case was set forth in the Court's May 20, 2016 order.
28 Dkt. No. 25. Those facts are incorporated herein by reference. The Court repeats background facts only as necessary for a decision on this Motion.

1 actions that he or she determines to be legally appropriate.” Section 8.20.050(C) 2 also requires all landlords to include a “Crime Free Lease Addendum” in every lease 3 agreement with a tenant, wherein the tenant agrees not to “engage in criminal 4 activity that would violate any federal, state or local law, on or near property 5 premises,” agrees that a violation of this addendum is a material violation of the 6 lease and provides good cause for termination of the lease, and agrees that failure to 7 comply with the addendum is a “material non-curable breach of the lease” that “will 8 result in a Three Day Notice to Quit” served on the tenant that will require the tenant 9 to vacate the property within three days. Section 8.20.050(C) also provides:

10
11 When an Owner or their designee is notified by the Chief 12 of Police, or his or her designee, that a Tenant has 13 engaged in criminal activity that would violate any 14 federal, state or local law, on or near the Residential 15 Rental Property leased to Tenant, the Owner shall begin 16 the eviction process against the Tenant within 10 business 17 days of the date of such notice, and pursuant to the Crime 18 Free Lease Addendum.

20 “When allowed by law,” the Chief of Police’s notice to the landlord “shall provide a 21 report or incident number, identify the offending Tenant(s), unit number if 22 applicable, and the specific violation(s), and shall state the date(s) and time(s) of any 23 observed criminal activity and any resulting arrest(s)” and “at the Chief of Police’s 24 discretion,” the notice may also include “the evidence and documents used by the 25 Chief of Police to determine whether a Tenant has engaged in criminal activity as 26 contemplated herein.” Finally, section 8.20.110 of the Rental Housing Ordinance 27 provides that landlords who fail to comply with the provisions of the Ordinance 28

1 “may be subject to an administrative citation in accordance with this Code or any 2 other action authorized by law to enforce the provisions of this Chapter.”

3 B. City Enforcement Efforts

4 Plaintiff VVFCR, founded and led by CEO Plaintiff Sharon Green, rents and 5 operates three residential homes in the City of Hesperia for its clients, who are 6 individuals on probation facing homelessness or other transitional issues as a result 7 of prior incarceration. Plaintiffs Avila, Batts, Dowdy, Deen, Holt-Francis, and 8 Gullett are current clients of VVFCR receiving such services. The three VVFCR
9 houses, each owned by different landlords, are located on 13211 La Crescenta Street
10 (“La Crescenta House”), 13147 Hollister Street (“Hollister House”), and 9046 11 Azalea Springs Avenue (“Azalea House”).

12 In the last few weeks, Plaintiffs contend that threats to their homes have 13 intensified. Mot. at 3. On May 31, 2016, the landlord of the La Crescenta House re-14 filed an unlawful detainer action (“UD action”) against VVFCR.³ Declaration of 15 Sharon Green in support of Pls.’ Motion (“Green Decl.”) ¶ 2, Ex. A, Dkt. 34-1. The 16 3-day Notice to Quit contends that VVFCR breached the rental agreement by 17 “operating the rental premise without a conditional use permit from the City of 18 Hesperia” and failing to “obtain[] a business license from the City of Hesperia.” Id.
19 The Notice to Quit also attached a copy of the City’s January 13, 2016 letter, which 20 advised the landlord of alleged “ongoing criminal activity at this location” in 21 accordance with the Rental Housing Ordinance, as further grounds for the action 22 being taken. Id. On June 10, 2016, VVFCR filed its Answer. Id. ¶ 3, Dkt. 34.

23 On June 14, 2016, the landlords of the Hollister House and the Azalea House 24 filed UD actions against VVFCR. Reply Declaration of Sharon Green in support of 25 Pls.’ Motion (“Reply Green Decl.”) ¶¶ 2 - 3, Exs. A - B, Dkts. 44-1 – 44-2. In both 26 UD actions, the 3-day Notice of Quit contends that VVFCR violated the rental

27
28 ³ In August, 2015, the landlord of the La Crescenta House filed an unlawful detainer action against VVFCR, which was dismissed that same month.

1 agreement by failing to comply with a “law or ordinance.” Id. The Notice to Quit in 2 the Hollister House UD action attached a copy of an Administrative Citation from 3 the City, dated May 26, 2016, citing the landlord for violation of Hesperia Municipal 4 Code sections 5.040.030 (“Operating Without A Business License”) and 16.16.040
 5 (“Violation of City Land Use Laws”), as grounds for the action being taken. Id., Ex.
 6 A. The Notice to Quit in the Azalea House UD action attached a similar citation, 7 dated May 20, 2016. Id., Ex. B.

8 II. LEGAL STANDARD

9 “A preliminary injunction is an extraordinary and drastic remedy.” Pom 10 Wonderful LLC v. Hubbard, 775 F.3d 1118, 1124 (9th Cir.2014) (quoting Munaf v.
 11 Geren, 553 U.S. 674, 689, 128 S.Ct. 2207, 171 L.Ed.2d 1 (2008)). To obtain a 12 preliminary injunction, a plaintiff “must establish that he is likely to succeed on the 13 merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary 14 relief, that the balance of hardships tips in his favor, and that an injunction is in the 15 public interest.” Winter v. Natural Res. Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20, 129 16 S.Ct. 365, 172 L.Ed.2d 249 (2008); Marlyn Nutraceuticals, Inc. v. Mucos Pharma
 17 GmbH & Co., 571 F.3d 873, 877 (9th Cir.2009). The Winter factors are considered 18 in conjunction with the Ninth Circuit’s “sliding scale” approach, which provides that 19 “the elements of the preliminary injunction test are balanced, so that a stronger 20 showing of one element may offset a weaker showing of another.” Vanguard 21 Outdoor, LLC v. City of Los Angeles, 648 F.3d 737, 739 (9th Cir.2011).

22 “In one version of the ‘sliding scale,’ a preliminary injunction could issue 23 where the likelihood of success is such that serious questions going to the merits 24 were raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in [plaintiff’s] favor.” Id. at 740 25 (internal quotation marks omitted; brackets in original) (noting that the “serious 26 questions” test survives Winter). Therefore, “serious questions going to the merits 27 and a hardship balance that tips sharply in the plaintiff’s favor can support issuance 28 of an injunction, so long as the plaintiff also shows a likelihood of irreparable injury

1 and that the injunction is in the public interest.” Id. (internal quotation marks 2 omitted).

3 III. DISCUSSION

4 A. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

5 Plaintiffs contend the “facts and law presented” establish “a strong likelihood” 6 that Plaintiffs will ultimately succeed on the merits.” Mot. at 12. Plaintiffs 7 challenge the constitutionality of the Ordinances, facially and as-applied to 8 Plaintiffs, alleging violations under the: 1) California constitution (privacy and 9 association claims); 2) Fourteenth Amendment equal protection clause; and 3) 10 Fourteenth Amendment due process clause.⁴ Id. at 12 – 24. Defendants disagree, 11 contending the majority of Plaintiffs’ claims are barred by the applicable statute of 12 limitations, and as to the remaining challenges, Plaintiffs fail to allege “a 13 constitutional violation visited pursuant to a custom, practice or policy of the local 14 government.” Opp. at 6 – 10. Defendants further argue the Rental Housing 15 Ordinance passes rational basis scrutiny and provides sufficient process. Id. at 9.
16 The Court finds Plaintiffs have raised serious questions regarding the 17 constitutionality of the Ordinances under federal law, weighing in favor of granting 18 a preliminary injunction.⁵

19 1. Statute of Limitations

20 As a threshold matter, the Court examines whether Plaintiffs’ federal claims 21 are barred by the applicable statute of limitations. Defendants concede that 22 Plaintiffs’ as-applied challenge to the Group Home Ordinance, and Plaintiffs’ facial 23

24 ⁴ Plaintiffs’ Complaint also asserts claims for violation of the “right to travel, to Move 25 Freely, and to be Free from Banishment,” violation of the Fourth Amendment (unlawful search and seizure), and state preemption claims, but Plaintiffs do not discuss these claims in their Motion. Dkt. 1 (Complaint); Mot. at 12 n.10.

26 ⁵ Because the Court finds Plaintiffs are entitled to the requested relief based on certain 27 federal claims, the Court does not address the merits of the other claims. See eBay, Inc. v. Bidder's 28 Edge, Inc., 100 F. Supp. 2d 1058, 1069 (N.D. Cal. 2000) (finding likelihood of success on the merits “based on its trespass claim, the court does not address the merits of the remaining claims. .

1 and as-applied challenge to the Rental Housing Ordinance remain “potentially 2 viable.” Opp. at 8. Thus, the Court examines only whether Plaintiffs’ facial 3 challenge to the Group Home Ordinance is time-barred.

4 “In determining the proper statute of limitations for actions brought under 42 5 U.S.C. § 1983, [courts] look to the statute of limitations for personal injury actions 6 in the forum state.” Maldonado v. Harris, 370 F.3d 945, 954 (9th Cir. 2004). Both 7 parties agree that under California law, the statute of limitations for a personal injury 8 action is two years. Opp. at 6; Reply at 7. The issue is when a Section 1983 claim 9 begins to accrue. Defendants contend Plaintiffs’ facial challenge accrued upon 10 adoption of the Group Home Ordinance in 2007 so that the “statute of limitations 11 under federal law expired in 2009.” Opp. at 6. Plaintiffs contend that the statute of 12 limitations begins to run when a “plaintiff knows or has reason to know of the 13 asserted injury.” Reply at 7. Because the City did not begin enforcement of the 14 Group Home Ordinance against Plaintiffs until January, 2015, Plaintiffs claim their 15 facial challenge does not expire until January, 2017. Id. The Court agrees with 16 Plaintiffs.

17 “A statute of limitations under § 1983. . . begins to run when the cause of 18 action accrues, which is when the plaintiffs know or have reason to know of the 19 injury that is the basis of their action.” RK Ventures, Inc. v. City of Seattle, 307 F.3d 20 1045, 1058 (9th Cir. 2002) (finding the city’s decision to send a formal “Notice of 21 Abatement of Public Nuisance” pursuant to the city’s ordinance triggered the § 1983 22 statute of limitations). Here, the City’s first “Notice of Violation” to VVFCRC under 23 the Group Home Ordinance is dated, February 17, 2015. Declaration of Sharon 24 Green in support of Pls.’ App. (“Green Decl. App.”) ¶ 9, Ex. C, Dkt. 12-6. Plaintiffs 25 commenced this action on May 4, 2016, within two years of receiving the first notice 26 for an alleged violation of the Ordinance. Dkt. 1. Accordingly, Plaintiffs’ facial 27 challenge to the Group Home Ordinance is timely.
28

2. Group Home Ordinance

“The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment commands that no State shall ‘deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws,’ which is essentially a direction that all persons similarly situated should be treated alike.” City of Cleburne, Tex. v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 439, 105 S. Ct. 3249, 87 L.Ed.2d 313 (1985) (citation omitted). Plaintiffs contend the Group Home Ordinance violates the Equal Protection Clause because it “plainly discriminates against persons on probation.”⁶ Mot. at 22. In support, Plaintiffs cite to Romer v. Evans, 517 U.S. 620, 116 S.Ct. 1620, 134 L.Ed.2d 855 (1996), where the Supreme Court struck down an amendment to the Colorado state constitution which was designed to repeal all existing laws barring discrimination based on sexual orientation on the grounds that “it [was] born of animosity toward the class that it affects” and “cannot be said to be directed to an identifiable legitimate purpose or discrete objective.” Romer, 517 U.S. at 621. In doing so, the Supreme Court recognized that a “legislative classification” that neither “burdens a fundamental right nor targets a suspect class” must “bear a rational relationship to an independent and legitimate end” in order to “ensure that classifications are not drawn for the purpose of disadvantaging the group burdened by the law.” Id. at 621, 633. Plaintiffs contend that, similar to “the law struck down in Romer,” the Group Home Ordinance “is based on discriminatory animus against persons on probation” which is not connected to “any legitimate public safety concerns.” Mot. at 23 – 24. Defendants do not address Plaintiffs’ contentions in their brief.

The Court is persuaded by Plaintiffs’ arguments. The Group Home Ordinance states that it was enacted because of the “substantial possibility” that a “proliferation of group homes, housing parolees and sex offenders in the City, have the potential to change the character of the residential neighborhoods” and “create concerns for the ⁶ The Ordinance defines “probation” as “an individual serving a period of time on probation ordered by a court of law.” Wong Decl. ¶ 16, Ex. A.

1 safety and welfare of residents.” Declaration of Adrienna Wong in support of Pls.’
 2 App. (“Wong Decl.”) ¶ 16, Ex. A, Dkt. 12-9. The Ordinance further states that the 3 City considered “studies, reports, data and information detailing the need for this 4 Ordinance” which is attached as Exhibit “A” to the Ordinance. Id. Plaintiffs have 5 provided the Court with a copy of a “staff report,” the “minutes of the Hesperia 6 Planning Commission’s meeting on April 26, 2007,” “Resolution No. PC-2007-35,” 7 “minutes of the Hesperia City Council’s special joint meeting on January 17, 2007;”
 8 and “minutes of the Hesperia’s City Council’s regular meeting on May 2, 2007” 9 related to the Ordinance; however, it is unclear if these documents were part of 10 Exhibit “A” to the Ordinance. Id. ¶¶ 16 – 20, Exs. B – E. Nevertheless, the 11 documents do not contain information evidencing that persons on probation have 12 posed a threat to the health, safety or welfare of its residents.⁷ Although the City’s 13 public safety concerns are legitimate, without such proof, the Court has serious 14 questions whether there exists a legitimate public purpose for enacting the 15 Ordinance. See City of Cleburne, Tex., 473 U.S. at 450 (holding requiring a special 16 use permit for a proposed group home for the mentally retarded violated Equal 17 Protection Clause in the absence of any rational basis in the record for believing that 18 the group home would pose any special threat to the city’s legitimate interests); see 19 also Garrett v. City of Escondido, 465 F.Supp.2d 1043, 1053 (S.D. Cal. 2006)
 20 (granting TRO application when the City failed to provide support for its statement 21 that “illegal aliens” endangered the health, safety and welfare of its citizens).

 24 25 ⁷ The information provided, such as the staff report, suggests that the Ordinance was 26 enacted to regulate sex offenders and convicted felons from residing within the City, but there are 27 also no “studies, data and information” evidencing such persons “create concerns for the safety and 28 welfare of residents.” Wong Decl., Ex. A. Moreover, VVFC does not provide services for sex offenders. Compl. ¶ 43 (“if a prospective client’s mental health is not manageable through medication, or if the individual is a sex offender, the individual will not be placed in the VVFC program, but will instead be placed in a specific home through the San Bernardino County Department of Behavioral Health or other entity.”)

3. Rental Housing Ordinance⁸

The Court also has serious questions regarding the due process considerations under the Rental Housing Ordinance. “The Fourteenth Amendment reads in part: ‘nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law,’ and protects ‘the individual against arbitrary action of government.’” Kentucky Dep’t of Corr. v. Thompson, 490 U.S. 454, 459-60, 109 S. Ct. 1904, 1908, 104 L. Ed. 2d 506 (1989) (citation omitted). Procedural due process claims are examined under a two-part analysis. First, the court must determine whether the interest at stake is a protected liberty or property right under the Fourteenth Amendment. Id. at 460. Second, only after identifying such a right, the court must consider whether “procedures attendant upon that deprivation were constitutionally sufficient.” Id.

Here, “[t]he right to be heard prior to the deprivation of a property interest is a fundamental protection of the Due Process clause.” Garrett, 465 F.Supp.2d at 1058 – 59 (recognizing tenant’s due process rights); see also Smith v. Brown, No. C10-1021, 2010 WL 3120203, at *2 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 9, 2010) (finding occupants of group home had standing to challenge sale of property which effectively would terminate their residency). The Rental Housing Ordinance requires that when a landlord is “notified by the Chief of Police, or his or her designee, that a Tenant has engaged in criminal activity” the landlord “shall begin the eviction process against the Tenant within 10 business days of the date of such notice. . . .” Wong Decl. ¶ 21, Ex. F (emphasis added). The Ordinance defines “Tenant” as “any person who ⁸ The City’s contention that Plaintiffs have failed to present evidence of its enforcement of the Rental Housing Ordinance against any of the Plaintiffs is without merit. Opp. at 7. The Court previously addressed this issue in its May 20, 2016 order finding the City’s January 13, 2016 letter, which notified the La Crescenta landlord of criminal activity under the provisions of the Rental Housing Ordinance, was “sufficient to require immediate eviction of VVFC.” Dkt. 25. The La Crescenta landlord has since filed a UD action against VVFC. Green Decl., Ex. A. Plaintiffs have therefore shown a specific threat of harm that is more than merely speculative.

1 occupies a Residential Rental Property, whether as a Tenant or permittee of the 2 Owner.” Id.

3 Plaintiffs contend that the Rental Housing Ordinance violates procedural due 4 process protections because it requires landlords to initiate eviction proceedings 5 against tenants, thereby interfering with the property rights of both the landlord and 6 tenant, without sufficient notice of the allegations against the tenant or a pre-7 deprivation opportunity for the landlord or tenant to dispute the allegations. Mot. at 8 15. Defendants contend that “[a]dequate safeguards exist on the face of the 9 ordinance” but fail to specifically address any of the Court’s concerns. Opp. at 10.
10 Although the Ordinance states “[a]ny recipient of an administrative citation may 11 contest the citation by the procedures set forth in this Code,” Defendants have not 12 provided the Court with a copy of the Code section discussing the alleged appeal 13 process. Wong Decl., Ex. F.

14 The Court finds the Ordinance concerning because (1) it is unclear whether 15 there is a procedure available for the tenant to contest the findings of the City prior 16 to the initiation of eviction proceedings; and (2) 10 business days appears to be an 17 insufficient amount of time available to the tenant for notice and opportunity to be 18 heard. See Garrett, 465 F. Supp.2d at 1058 - 59; see also Cook v. City of Buena 19 Park, 126 Cal.App.4th 1, 9 (2005) (the “onerous requirement that the landlord 20 institute the unlawful detainer action within just 10 days of receiving the notice form 21 the chief of police” is “not nearly enough time for the owner to bolster his evidence 22 if the City’s notice is lacking or to otherwise investigate the matter and develop his 23 case”). Because the Ordinance lacks notice and a hearing to the tenant prior to the 24 initiation of unlawful detainer proceedings, the Court finds Plaintiffs have raised 25 serious questions regarding the constitutionality of the Rental Housing Ordinance.

26 B. Likelihood of Irreparable Harm

27 “A wrongful eviction may give rise to irreparable injury, and in the Ninth 28 Circuit, ‘it is well-established that the loss of an interest in real property constitutes an irreparable injury.’” Johnson v. Macy, No. CV 15-7165, 2015 WL 7351538, at *8 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2015) (quoting Park Village Apartment Tenants Ass’n v. Mortimer Howard Trust, 636 F.3d 1150, 1159 (9th Cir. 2011)); see also Jackmon v. America’s Servicing Co., No. 11-03884, 2011 WL 3667478, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 22, 2011) (“It is undisputed that plaintiffs are harmed if they are evicted from their homes or undergo a foreclosure sale.”). “[T]he person or entity seeking injunctive relief must demonstrate that irreparable injury is likely in the absence of an injunction. An injunction will not issue if the person or entity seeking injunctive relief shows a mere possibility of some remote future injury, or a conjectural or hypothetical injury.” Park Village Apartment Tenants Ass’n, 636 F.3d at 1160 (internal quotations marks and citation omitted).

Here, it is undisputed that unlawful detainer actions have been filed against VVFC in connection with the La Crescenta House, the Hollister House and the Azalea House. Green Decl. ¶ 2, Ex. A; Reply Green Decl. ¶¶ 2-3, Exs. A - B. Plaintiffs have also established that the challenged Ordinances are the driving force behind the unlawful detainer actions. The 3-day Notice to Quit in all three actions make clear that VVFC has allegedly breached its rental agreement by failing to comply with a law or ordinance. Id. With the threat of eviction imminent, the Court finds Plaintiffs have demonstrated they will suffer irreparable harm. See Smith, 2010 WL 3120203, at *6 (finding irreparable harm when occupants of group home “will no longer be able to live at the home of their choosing”).⁹

C. Balance of Hardships

In balancing the equities, courts “must balance the competing claims of injury and must consider the effect on each party of the granting or withholding of the requested relief.” Winter, 555 U.S. at 24 (citation omitted). If the preliminary ⁹ Defendants’ argument that Plaintiffs must present evidence of a “judgment of eviction” is unavailing. Opp. at 4. The Ninth Circuit recognized that “Defendants’ threat to evict Plaintiffs created a likelihood of irreparable harm. . . .” Park Village Apartment Tenants Ass’n, 636 F.3d at 1159 (emphasis added).

1 injunction is not granted, Plaintiffs contend they “will imminently be displaced and 2 rendered homeless.” Mot. at 10. In response, Defendants contend a preliminary 3 injunction would invade the City’s “fundamental powers” by preventing it from 4 enforcing the Ordinances and protecting the “public health, safety and welfare of its 5 residents.” Opp. at 6. Defendants are further concerned that VVFCRC will open new 6 houses, thereby “exacerbating the nuisance uses in the community.” Id.

7 The Court finds the harm caused to Plaintiffs if the Ordinances are not 8 enjoined outweigh the harm to Defendants. Plaintiffs attest that without housing 9 assistance from VVFCRC, they will be homeless. Declaration of Daniel Avila ¶ 2, 10 Dkt. 12-1 (“If I were forced to leave this house, I would be back on the streets, like I 11 was before.”); Declaration of Renee Gullett ¶ 4, Dkt. 12-7 (“If I could not live in this 12 house, I might be living on the streets.”); Declaration of Nicholas Holt-Francis ¶ 6, 13 Dkt. 12-8 (“If I were forced to leave the house where I live now, I would go back to 14 the street again.”); Declaration of Chris Dowdy ¶ 2, Dkt. 12-4 (“Without the housing 15 I have now, I would be homeless.”); Declaration of Harold Batts ¶ 7, Dkt. 12-2 (“If I 16 did not have this housing, I would become homeless.”); and Declaration of David 17 Deen ¶ 3, Dkt. 12-3 (“... I would have been on the street if I had not been referred 18 to housing through Victor Valley Family Resource Center.”). Thus, the harm that 19 Plaintiffs will suffer if they are wrongfully evicted from their homes is irreparable.
 20 See Johnson, 2015 WL 7351538, at *8 (“[W]rongful eviction is not an injury for 21 which remedies available at law are adequate.”); see also Price v. City of Stockton, 22 390 F.3d 1105, 1117 (9th Cir. 2004) (“Despite the hardships the City may face in 23 delaying some of its development plans and providing relocation benefits, we agree 24 with the district court that it is a far more severe hardship for someone to be 25 displaced from his or her home”).

26 Defendants, on the other hand, have failed to identify an actual prejudice they 27 will suffer if the preliminary injunction is granted. Jones v. Upland Hous. Auth., No.
 28 12-02074, 2013 WL 708540, at *16 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 21, 2013) (“The hardship to

1 Plaintiffs—imminent homelessness—tips the balance of equities in their favor, in 2 light of the essentially absent hardship faced by Defendants.”). A preliminary 3 injunction will not prevent Defendants from enforcement of any criminal laws, nor 4 have Defendants provided any evidence of any criminal activity occurring at any of 5 the locations. See Garrett, 465 F.Supp.2d at 1053 (finding balance of hardships tip 6 in favor of plaintiffs when ordinance will not affect overall levels of criminal 7 activity). Thus, the balance of hardship tips in Plaintiffs’ favor.

8 D. Public Interest

9 When an injunction would affect the public, the court must examine whether 10 the public interest would be advanced or impaired by the issuance of a preliminary 11 injunction. Caribbean Marine Services Co., Inc. v. Baldrige, 844 F.2d 668, 674 (9th 12 Cir. 1988). Plaintiffs contend that the public interest favors a preliminary injunction 13 because the services provided by VVFCRC “enhance public safety and prevent crime 14 by providing housing and support to people in reentry.” Mot. at 11. VVFCRC 15 provides “meals, financial literacy classes, anger management training, and case 16 management services to homeless individuals and persons in reentry to help them
 17 find permanent employment and housing.” Green Decl. App. ¶ 3.¹⁰ VVFCRC 18 currently holds a contract with the County of San Bernardino to provide transitional 19 housing and supportive services to individuals on probation. Id. ¶ 5, Ex. B.

20 Defendants agree that an important “public interest exists in addressing 21 conditions that impact the disadvantaged” but contend that VVFCRC’s services 22 violate “basic life safety standards via overcrowding” and therefore impact 23 “legitimate public health, safety and welfare interests.” Opp. at 10 - 11. According 24 to Defendants, Plaintiffs allege they serve up to 80 individuals a year, which means 25 there is a “range of 13-26 occupants per house” which is in violation of the Uniform 26 Building Code. Id. at 11. However, Defendants have made no showing that

27 28 ¹⁰ According to Plaintiffs, approximately 85% of its clients who graduate from the transitional supportive housing program remain employed and/or enrolled in school and have permanent housing. Compl. ¶ 45, Dkt. 1.

VVFCRC has violated any basic housing standards. Thus, the public interest factor weighs in Plaintiffs' favor.

E. Bond

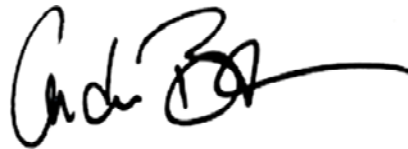

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 requires the posting of a security in an "amount that the court considers proper to pay the costs and damages sustained by any party found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained." Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c). Plaintiffs argue that a bond should be waived in this case. Mot. at 24 n.21; see also People of State of Cal. ex rel. Van De Kamp v. Tahoe Reg'l Planning Agency, 766 F.2d 1319, 1325 (9th Cir. 1985), amended, 775 F.2d 998 (9th Cir. 1985) ("The court has discretion to dispense with the security requirement, or to request mere nominal security, where requiring security would effectively deny access to judicial review."). Defendants do not address the bond requirement in their papers. The Courts finds a nominal bond in the amount of $100.00 will be sufficient.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court GRANTS Plaintiffs' Motion For a Preliminary Injunction. Defendants are enjoined from taking any action to enforce either Hesperia Ordinance No. 2007-07 or Hesperia Ordinance 2015-12 against Plaintiffs or the properties located at 9046 Azalea Springs Avenue, 13211 La Crescenta Street, and 13147 Hollister Street.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
